Passage I

Our voyage was very prosperous, but I shall not trouble the reader with a journal of it. The captain called in at one or two ports and sent in his long-boat for provisions and fresh water, but I never went out of the ship till we came into the Downs, which was on the 3rd day of June, 1706, about nine months after my escape. I offered to leave my goods in security for payment of my freight, but the captain protested he would not receive one farthing. We took kind leave of each other, and I made him promise that he would come to see me at my house in Redriff. I hired a house and a guide for five shillings which I borrowed from the captain.

Passage II

What were the early ideas of men about the sky and the earth? They naturally believed that the earth was motionless, and they also supposed that it was flat. These two ideas do not surprise us. Children now-a-days think the same until they are taught differently. How were men to know that the earth was a ball circling round the sun? They had no telescope for accurate observation. They had not travelled round the world. In fact, many parts of the world in those days were unexplored and unknown. They thought they lived on a kind of flat plate, and that the sky with the sun and the moon and the stars, was a kind of inverted bowl turning round above them. The sun, the moon and the stars were their lamps for day and night.

- 6. Unless children are taught differently they 8. think that
  - (a) the earth is round and moving.
  - (b) the sun and the moon are motionless.

- 9. What was the main cause of the early man's wrong ideas?
  - (a) Lack of scientific knowledge
  - (b) Seeing and believing
  - (c) Lack of desire to know
  - (d) Lack of desire to observe and explore

Passage III

The man sat up in the snow for a moment and struggled for calmness. Then he pulled on his gloves by means of his teeth, and got upon his feet. He glanced down at first in order to assure himself that he was really standing up, for the absence of sensation in his feet left him unrelated to the earth. His erect position in itself started to drive the webs of suspicion from the dog's mind; and when he spoke peremptorily, with the sound of whip-lashes in his voice, the dog rendered its customary allegiance and came to him. As it came within reaching distance, the man lost his control. His arms flashed out to the dog and he experienced genuine surprise when he discovered that his hands could not clutch, that there was neither bend nor feeling in the fingers. He had forgotten for the moment that they were frozen and that they were freezing more and more. All this happened quickly and before the animal could get away, he encircled its body with his arms. He sat down in the snow and in this fashion held the dog, while it snarled and whined and struggled.

- 10. From the passage, which group of words expresses the effect of snow upon the man's feet?
  - (a) With the sound of whip-lashes in his voice.
  - (b) His arms flashed out to the dog.
  - (c) The absence of sensation in his feet left him unrelated to the earth.
  - (d) The man sat up in the snow for a moment and struggled for calmness.

  - (c) the man was afraid of the dog.
  - (d) there was neither bend nor feeling in the fingers.

  - (a) Whip-lashes in his voice
  - (b) He pulled on his gloves
  - (c) His hands could not clutch
  - (d) Lost his control

Passage IV

George was a young man who had gone to the big city from a small rural community and, in a relatively short time, attained prominence in the business world. His sudden rise had gone into his head, however, and he became unbearably conceited.

Eventually, George returned home after a visit, halfway expecting everyone in town to be at the railway station to welcome him.

Much to his surprise, George saw that no one, not even his family, was around to meet him when he descended from the train. He looked very neat in a new suit and carried a bulky suitcase full of fashionable clothes.

After a little while, the station master came from his office and went over to the young fellow. "Well, hello there, George," he called out cheerily, "Are you going away?"

Passage V

The assault on the purity of the environment is the price that we pay for many of the benefits of modern technology. For the advantages of automotive transportation we pay a price in smog-induced diseases; for the powerful effects of new insecticides, we pay a price in dwindling wildlife and disturbances in the relation of living things and their surroundings; for nuclear power, we risk the biological hazards of radiation. By increasing agricultural production with fertilizers, we increase water pollution.

The highly developed nations of the world are not only the immediate beneficiaries of the good that technology can do, they are also the first victims of the environmental diseases that technology breeds. In the past, the environmental effects which accompanied technological progress were restricted to a small place and relatively a short time. The new hazards are neither local nor brief. Modern air pollution covers vast areas of continents. Radioactive fallout from nuclear explosions is worldwide. Radioactive pollutants now on the Earth's surface will be found there for generations, and in the case of Carbon-14, for thousands of years.

- 17. The passage emphasizes that modern 19. technology
  - (a) is totally avoidable.
  - (b) has caused serious hazards to life.
  - (c) has greater effect on developed countries.
  - (d) is the source of the miseries of mankind.
- 18. The harmful effects of modern technology are
  - (a) widespread but short lived.
  - (b) widespread and long lasting.
  - (c) local and long lasting.
  - (d) severe but short lived.

- 9. With reference to the passage, the following assumptions have been made:
  - The widespread use of insecticides has caused ecological imbalance.
  - Conservation of natural flora and fauna is impossible in this age of modern technology.

Which of the assumptions is/are valid?

- (a) 1 only
- (b) 2 only
- (c) Both 1 and 2
- (d) Neither 1 nor 2

Passage VI

To what extent, though, are modern farming methods sustainable? There is abundant evidence that a high price has to be paid to sustain the high rates of food production achieved by farmed monocultures. For example, they offer ideal conditions for the epidemic spread of diseases such as mastitis, brucellosis and swine fever among livestock and coccidiosis among poultry. Farmed animals are normally kept at densities far higher than their species would meet in nature with the result that disease transmission rates are magnified. In addition, high rates of transmission between herds occur as animals are sold from one farming enterprise to another, and it is easy for the farmers themselves, with mud on their boots and their vehicles, to act as vectors of pests and disease.

- 20. With reference to the passage, consider the 21. following statements:
  - 1. The modern practices of farming are undesirable for developing countries.
  - Monoculture practices should be given up to eliminate disease transmission in animals.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- (a) 1 only
- (b) 2 only
- (c) Both 1 and 2
- (d) Neither 1 nor 2

- 1. What is the essence of this passage?
  - (a) Farming is a very costly affair.
  - (b) Farmed animals are kept at higher densities in monocultures.
  - (c) There is a widespread transmission of animal diseases now-a-days.
  - (d) Human dependence on monoculture is fragile.

SELECTING WORDS

Directions (For the following 12 items):

In the following passage, at certain points you are given a choice of three words in a bracket, one of which fits the meaning of the passage. Choose the best word from each bracket. Mark the letter, viz. (a), (b) or (c), relating to this word on your Answer Sheet. Examples Y and Z have been solved for you.

Y. the (a) boy was in the school in Simla

Z. (a) She was homesick

(b) horse

(b) It

(c) dog

(c) He

Explanation: Out of the list given in item Y, only boy is the correct answer because usually a boy, and not a horse or a dog, attends school. So (a) is to be marked on the Answer Sheet for item Y. A boy is usually referred to as "he", so for item Z, the letter (c) is the correct answer. Notice that to solve the first item Y you have to read the rest of the sentence and then see what fits best.
